Western Sydney premiere lifts the lid on the hijinx of the 'help'

Penrith residents will be the first to see the hilarious theatrical production Who's in Bed with the Butler?, when it makes its NSW debut at the Q Theatre in August.

Described as Downton Abbey meets the Pink Panther, Who's in Bed with the Butler? tells the story of heiress Constance, daughter of a billionaire playboy who has just died, as she attempts to recover some of his unorthodox bequests - with hilarious results. Three significant assets (cars, artwork and a yacht) from his estate have been left to three former girlfriends, who all have some rather unexpected similarities - they are all chasing the Butler...and they are all played by the same person!

Artistic Director of NTT Productions, Carol Dicker, has no doubt that Penrith audiences will receive a good injection of laughter from a night out at the theatre with Who's in Bed with the Butler?. "From the moment the show opens, a wild goose chase begins that, in the style of true farce, involves mistaken identities, bed hopping, pratfalls and classic one-liners!"

"It's everything that we've come to know Western Sydney audiences are looking for in a stage comedy. A very funny show, a terrific troupe of talented performers and a night out that won't blow the budget."

Last year, NTT brought the slapstick comedy hit Run for your Wife to the Q Theatre, and audiences raved. "We had people leaving complaining that their jaws hurt from laughing so much - that sort of feedback is what comic theatre is all about."

"Anyone who liked Run for your Wife is going to love Who's in Bed with the Butler?"

Who's in Bed with the Butler? plays for three shows only at the Q Theatre, Penrith - August 17 at 8pm and August 18 at 2pm and 8pm. Bookings phone 4723 7600 or visit www.nttproductions.com
